

Sausalito Shoreline

New Year's edition

IT'S ELECTION SEASON!

Want to get involved in your neighborhood and help make Sausalito Shores a better place to live? Join us on the Sausalito Shores Homeowners Association!

We're looking for new members to help expand our board and help make decisions to improve our community. No experiences required, just a desire to help out.

This January 21, we will host our annual budget board meeting, with decisions that will affect the year ahead. It's the most important meeting of the year for the SSHA, and we encourage residents to get involved.

Visit sausalitoshores.com for more information about the neighborhood and how to get involved.

Be sure you're up-to-date on your SSHA dues first.

MAKING SEAS BRIGHT

The annual Holiday Boat Parade circumnavigated Lake Howell Dec. 9 to the delight of dozens of revelers on the dock.

A GREENER THUMB

GROW AN EDIBLE GARDEN, EVEN IN THE WINTER

By Tom Carey

FROM MY GARDEN TO YOURS

To be honest, onions have never been a favorite of mine. My least preferred pizza topping is big chunks of them. I can tolerate deep fried onion rings only if there is more deep and fried than onion. My wife is even welcome to cherry-pick my restaurant salads for easily nabbed pieces. As a farmer, I do not have to savor the taste of every crop I could possibly grow. This is not to say I do not consume onions. My recommended formula for a ‘mess-o-greens’ starts with onions in the cast iron skillet. Scallion (Allium fistulosum) or green onions can always be found growing in my garden. After the Christmas freeze of 1989, my only crop harvestable for sale at the Winter Park Farmers Market was scallions. Their mild flavor agrees with my persnickety tastes, and of course scallion’s nutritive value cannot be debated. Using hands-on intensive methods in our gardens, we can grow four times the edible weight of scallions than a

What happens to the HOA dues you pay?

In 2017:

- Free Wi-fi was added to the clubhouse
- New locks for all the gates
- Hurricane cleanup/fence repair costs
- Clubhouse updates such as new front decor, interior painting, ceiling fans, added trashcans and tables, landscaping maintenance fees and updated both bathroom toilets/vanities.
- Added more lighting to exterior for safety
- Hosted Holiday gatherings for the community

Our goals in 2018:

- RV/Boat Lot upgrades
- Mulch playground
- New Boat Ramp
- Replace wood for defined parking areas
- Even better holiday parties for the community

We depend on you to help keep our community a great one!

IT'S A GREAT DAY TO JOIN THE SSHA!

In Sausalito Shores, you have one of the best values for a homeowners' association in the area. Our annual dues are just $120 per year – that's a steal! For only $10 per month you get access to basketball courts, tennis courts, our playground and lakeside dock!

For just another $110, you can use our boat ramp to access Lake Howell year-round!

And for just another $250 for SSHA members, you can store a boat, RV or trailer in our lit, gated lot!

The Sausalito Shores Homeowners Association helps keep your neighborhood clean and in good shape. Your membership helps make that happen!

To join today, visit sausalitoshores.com or sausalitoshores.com/board-of-directors for more contact info.
